MIRROR 1967

waltham high school
waltham, mass.

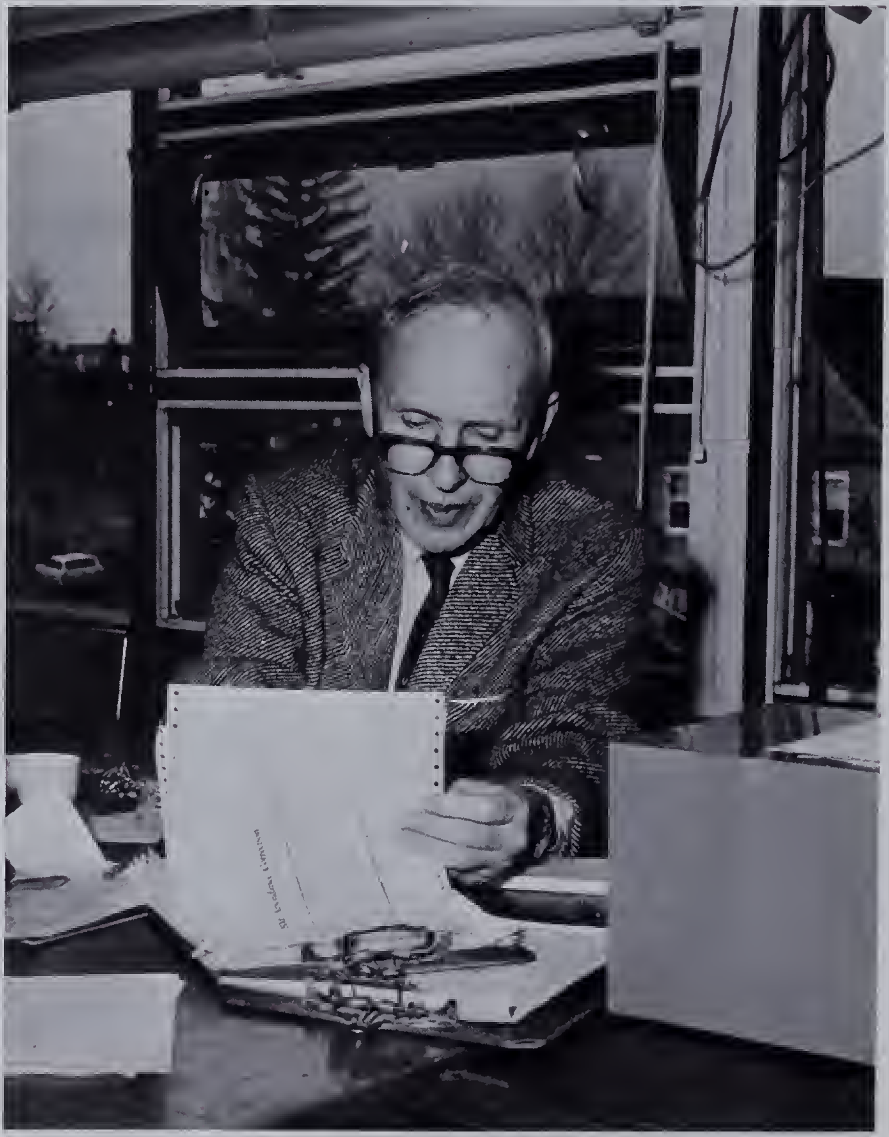
S. HERRICK

Dedication

MR. WILLIAM J. GALLAGHER

Mr. Gallagher, our headmaster for two and one half years, has always shown great faith in the students and faculty. He is a loyal supporter of the Waltham High Hawks. With a handshake and a smile he greeted us. The Class of 1967 proudly dedicates the Mirror to Mr. William J. Gallagher.

We, the graduates of the Class of 1967, dedicate our Mirror to Mr. Almon Morang, our housemaster for three years. He has been a loyal teacher and firm administrator. He exhibits interest in and concern for both students and teachers. We thank Mr. Morang for the many hours and thoughts he has devoted to the Class of 1967.



MR. ALMON MORANG

In Memoriam

While thinking of those gay and carefree days at Waltham High may we stop to remember our fellow student, Leonard Correia. For our years at Waltham High have been tainted by the solemn thought that death is not reserved for adults but is ever imminent and can cut short the life of anyone.

We will remember the carefree lad who walked quietly down the corridors, a nod of recognition in the hall, or a friendly poke. He enjoyed himself wherever he was: a quiet sense of humor and calm smile, always happy to meet others and make them feel relaxed. His calm and quiet are preserved forever in the halls of Waltham High.

When thinking of Waltham High and its gaiety, think also of the tranquility and friendliness which Leonard showed. Never let us think ourselves too great or too wealthy to give a friendly smile or poke in the arm in fun, for these will act as a living memorial to Leonard Correia.

Appreciation

The 1967 Mirror Staff thanks Mr. Vallely, the literary advisor, and Mr. Neylon, the business advisor. We appreciate the time and efforts they devoted to the Mirror. We are also grateful to Mrs. Keough, Mrs. Willett, the Main Office Staff, and the English Office Staff. Only with the help of these people was the 1967 Mirror able to go to the press.

"Bid Your Wake, and Rise to Fight and Win . . . "

(WALTER MALONE)

Life is a constant process of learning, of being exposed to new ideas, and different ways of living.

Our teachers at Waltham High, during our three years here, have helped expand our worlds by encouraging us to always strive for the ultimate, to do as much as possible, and to learn as much as possible.

When we first entered Waltham High as wide-eyed sophomores in September 1964, we were a packet of assorted superstitions. Foremost was the belief (which as seniors we might tend to resurrect) that upperclassmen are infallible superbeings whom puny sophomores serve with a willing smile—or else!

This fancy did not last long, however, when we found in the first WHS Students' Manual that upperclassmen were bound by the same rules as we were. Not to be foiled by the little red-covered book of do's and don't's, we began developing the intricate art of twisting rules around to exploit what they didn't actually forbid. We have since developed our art of ambiguity to a highly refined skill. We would like to thank the creators of this little volume of School Committee Thought for encouraging so many students to go on to law, who would never otherwise have discovered the great potential for debating within them.

Election Year 1964—and we managed to make our opinions heard. Honors English student Karen Aykanian, the first member of the class of '67 to appear in print, wrote a parody of the Johnson-Goldwater Battle. The tongue-in-cheek article so concisely summed up the issues, that the News-Tribune published it Election Week.

Along with the computer-programing department, we shared the growing pains of the computerized scheduling system. This system, which was used for the first time to schedule our class, reduced each member of our 670-student-group from a living, breathing, boisterous kid, into a perforated beige, computer-dam card . . . do not bend, spindle, fold, or mutilate.

After ridding the system of a few flaws, such as the computer's obstinate tendency to give all A's to everyone, the school has used the computer for everything from grading to absentee records and more than doubled our efficiency in those complicated fields.

Both intellectually and athletically the Class of 1967 has left a mark on Waltham High. Not only does our class have the first three-year cheerleaders, Janet Beran and Carolyn Brophy, ever to cheer the teams on to victory, but the first tennis team at Waltham High was organized, thanks to the support of our class, under the leadership of Math Teacher and would-be folk singer Tom Foley.

Not only did the team bounce its way to an undefeated season in the Suburban Interscholastic League, but classmate Fran. Doorakian went to the fourth round in the state tournament.

For quite a while during our sophomore year, we all tended to think of ourselves as Young James Bonds, living lives of suspense and danger. Soon we were reacting like nonchalant old pros to the bomb scares that came the average of three-a-day. While axe-carrying, helmeted policemen searched the lockers and dingy corners for that ominous tick, we very casually chatted in little groups of three and four. Leaning against the wall, we shooed our worldly defiance of any bomb, and our contempt for fear in the very face of danger! Ah Brave Youth!

Returning as Juniors in September 1966, we shed all timidity in the face of authority and swaggered freely around school with all the brashness of the full-fledged upperclassman. From September to February vague references to acqueducts, togas, and gowns, and whispers of "Will I go or won't I? It's only six months away!" underscored the biggest topic of the year . . . "Roman Holiday," our Junior Prom, under the direction of Chairman David LaHaise.

Held in the high school cafeteria, the prom was a magical evening of dancing under Roman arches and lingering by Roman gardens; an evening that no one will ever forget, especially, Debbie McCullough, Prom Queen. And when the school held it's first Homecoming Queen contest at the Thanksgiving Day Football Game (which we won), we were all very proud when Janice Texeira was chosen Junior Attendant.

1966 was an exciting year of discovery. Mary Scheier, living with an Indian family in Madras, India, as an American Field Service Exchange Student, made many lasting friendships while learning to live as an Indian in a totally different, but very beautiful, country.

The Class of 1967 has always had its share of fame in the literary field. Our Junior Class received four first prizes in the annual Kingsbury Temperance Essay Contest, the awards going to Charlene Malloy, who was also city-wide winner, Lucille Bouchard, Nancy Rando, and William DeRusha.

That same year Nancy Rando was also named city-wide winner in WCRB's radio editorial contest, "Integrated Housing: Whose Responsibility?" And, underlining the importance of scholastic achievement, Mary Scheier was elected President of the Eastern Massachusetts Association of National Honor Society Chapters.

Under the direction of our Junior Class officers, (President, James Colantropo, Vice-President Joe Cacciatore, Secretary Karen O'Toole and Treasurer Barbara Everett), we tried our best to make Mr. William Gallagher's last full year as principal of Waltham High School a pleasant and successful one, in recognition of his kindness and efforts in behalf of the students.

The time-honored myth that senior year is nothing but blissful rest is full of holes, as we found when we became seniors. It seems that that little story is used by desperate teachers in a manner similar to that of the donkey and the carrot. But even though we were busy, the important thing is that we enjoyed it.

In a school as large as Waltham High, the only way one can really be "in the know" is to read the school paper. And we take our hats off in salute to "This Week at Waltham High," our school column in the News-Tribune, that managed to keep track of the million-and-one different things that go on in one week here. And for keeping the paper on its toes, we applaud our Co-Editors-In-Chief, Mary Scheier, Martha Wellington, and Nancy Rando.

The Reflector, the student publication, printed at the Vocational High School, again appeared in the corridors of W.H.S.—thanks to editors Karen Dodge and Irene Shlager.

Our class has been noted for its dramatic talent, although some people have been unkind enough to suggest that "ham" is a more appropriate term. Starting our climatic senior year off with a lethal dose, we presented the killing comedy, "Arsenic and Old Lace," starring Sue Boynton, Bob Howard, Leslie Cybulski, P. J. Lillis, and Brian Rochatka. People are still talking about the wonderful job that we all did.

And just to show how varied and exciting our talent actually is, we staged our March presentation of our annual talent show, based this year on "Reflections in Time," and under the direction of faculty advisor John Reagen, Student Director Bob Gullotti, and Student Producer Steve Boyd. We took the audience all the way from the 1920's, where they were entertained by such all time Greats as Rudy Valley and Baby June, to the future of 2000 a.d. and the ultimate in classroom—everything automated, even teachers! There were wayout dances, everything from the Charleston to the Boogaloo, all choreographed by our very talented Judy Ansara. And bringing out all the contrasting moods of the past, present and future, with music ranging from "Five Foot Two" to "Batman" was our band, under the direction of Bob Clark.

Scholastically too we were right out front. Richard McKenzie bringing honor both to himself and to Waltham, was awarded a National Merit Scholarship. Janet Beran was chosen as our Daughters of the American Revolution Representative, and Kathy McHugh and Nancy Rando were selected to study in Aachen, Germany, for six weeks during the summer. We even have living proof that women are still to be found in the kitchen—Irene Shlager won the "Betty Crocker Future Homemakers of Tomorrow Award". And we even had our part-time Brandeisans. Taking courses at Brandeis University were Mary Scheier, who studied psychology; Gail Resnikoff, who studied Anthropology; and David Nevard, who studied Sociology.

But some people were still complaining that Waltham wasn't quite with it. Not about to take this charge lying down, ambitious letter-winners, with President Dom Visione; and Interact, an organization dedicated to helping unfortunate children in the area, under the leadership of President Alan Ackerman. And Waltham High School students were right there at the cafeteria every Saturday night to support our newly formed Teen Canteen, a club for Waltham Teen-agers.

A new cheer was born: "Let's Go Hawks!" and the phrase resounded throughout Boston Garden as our talented basketball team reached the semi-finals in the Tech Tournament under their captain, Joe Cacciatore. Not to be outdone, our hockey team, headed by Edgar Bastarache and Dan Pierce, also qualified for its Tournament and played two exciting games before it was eliminated from the competition.

In keeping with the new role of women's equality, the Hawkettes have achieved a winning record in basketball, volleyball and softball through our three years at Waltham High.

And who furnished the big, big sound that spurred our teams on to victory?—all the loyal Waltham High fans, singing along with our Waltham High Band. Huffing and puffing to prove that no school beats Waltham High in spirit were band members Bobby Clark, Bob Phillips, Paul Stempson, Terry Marshall, Harriet Johnson, and Babara Benson.

And for all dieters, who conscientiously skip lunch and eat only ice cream, the WHS Cafeteria has switched from vanilla sandwiches to chocolate cones. They know how monotonous a diet can get!

All of us in the class are very grateful to the Malagasy Republic, for loaning us smiling, friendly Hanitra Andrianmanantena, our American Field Service Foreign Exchange Student. Learning about Hanitra's world was as illuminating an experience for us as sharing our world with her. And we know that when she goes home, leaving many sad friends behind, Waltham will always remain a part of her, just as she will always remain a part of Waltham.

And now, garduation time draws near, and we find ourselves on the brink of—we know not what we look back on three years of high school: turbulent, exciting, made up of problems and hopes and joys that together helped push us toward adulthood, a greater understanding of ourselves and others, a clearer idea of how important each one of us is, and how much we all have to contribute to a world that grows busier and more exciting to live in every day.

1967 Class Prophecy

"Good evening, ladies and gentlemen. Station WWHS is pleased and privileged to bring you the ceremonies of the exclusive movie premiere of "Gone with the Milkman". Those in the know say this is the finest film to come out of Waltham in the last fifty years. Of course, what they don't say is that it's the only film that has come out of Waltham in the last fifty years.

"Now let's station in on our WWHS man-on-the-spot Bob Mooney and his assistant William Gullotti, who are at the gala opening of The Arthur Dahl Memorial Theatre, and here's Bob." "Okay, folks, the large crowd here is starting to buzz at this magnificent building being donated by the multi-billionaire Billy Baker. Its unique design, in the form of a globe, was created by the firm of prominent architects, led by Linda Cormier, Russ Caney and Joe Casella, and constructed under the auspices of Kevin Coleman and Joe Susi. The first limousine is pulling up and stopping in front of the red carpet which leads into the theatre. Stepping out is the brilliant producer-director of the film, Bill Cooney. With him is his ever-present companion, choreographer Bob Caisey, dancing into the theatre. Also in the limousine is actress blond bombshell Teri Marshall. Miss Marshall is wearing a slim, white crepe outfit covered with a fishnet silver coat. Her frightfully innocent attire that glitters like Venetian glass was designed by Christine Pavone. But I don't think the crowd is screaming for her. 'We want Zuke, we want Zuke,' shout the people. Marty Dozois and Ralph Erickson, retired professional football players, are leading the crowd in this chant. Here he comes! Senator George "Zuke" Russo and his muscular aide, Joseph Bonica, step forth in stovepipe trousers and herringbone jackets. Walking close behind, carrying Zuke's coattails is his personal bodyguard, Nancy McGuire.

"Pulling up behind the limousine, in his Italian sports car, is Joe Cacciatore, coach and high-scoring player of the Boston Peptics.

"The cars are being driven by attendants Robert O'Brien and Thomas Gledhill up a steel ramp leading to the roof parking area. This "Round and Round, Up and Down" Ramp Service, under the supervision of Bob McGinty and Kevin McCabe, was invented by John Lehane, Jr. and Don Fetterhoff, multi-millionaires in the automobile industry. The top two architects in the country, Peter Falzone and John Chiaramaglia, were hired to design the entire layout, assisted by construction men Mickey Doucet, John Brooks and Derek Morgan. John McFarland christened the ramp this evening by driving driving his XKE up to the roof.

"The excitement is mounting, folks. Let's take our WWHS cameras inside and show you the magnificent lobby of The Arthur Dahl Memorial Theatre. The interior decorators were Karen Bowley, Debbie Delano, and Carolyn Wadman. As you can see, the management has gone to great pains to gather some of the finest works of art now on display for their patrons. Included are such priceless sculptures as Noreen Cunningham's "Purple Acorn" carved out of pink marble and master-pieces by John Lefort, Marcia O'Malley and Warren Storer. Bonnie Bradley and David Navien, renowned art collectors, have the responsible job of keeping the works of art neat and clean, keeping in mind their book Soiled Treasures Bring No Pleasures, written in collaboration with the authoress, Carolyn Brown.

"Now we're passing attractive usherettes Leslie Mason, Deborah McCullough and Judy Suter. Let's stop and talk with one. "Hi there! Would you tell our national television audience what your name is and why you took this job?" "My name is Leslie Mason, and I just love dealing with all the public."

"The refreshment stand, managed by Jane Yurkus and Shirley Haines, is said to be the most elaborate in the country. Where else can you buy plain boxes of popcorn for twenty-five cents or buttered popcorn in boxes hand-painted by Leslie Cybulski for fifty cents? Upstairs in the elaborate cocktail lounge, mini-skirted waitresses Lucille Bouchard, Pat Caruso and Conna Cavicchi are being enraptured by the songs of popular singer, Danny Doyle, while Janice Texeira and Doreen Martin dance in their psychedelic costumes.

"Standing near the entrance greeting the celebrities is the owner Bill Cavanaugh, who is discussing the ensuing film with Marilyn Stockwell, a Voldhoi ballet dancer; Bill Shinnick, a well-known playboy; and Eric Belliveau, a classy business tycoon. To our right Gail Resnikoff is disputing Einstein's theory of relativity with mathematicians John Viveiros, Louis Karamas and Michael McCabe. What's this? It looks like drama critic Lana Antico, who has just lauded the movie "Naive Nineties". I think she's going to slide down the golden bannister in a paper bathing suit! BUT, no one is paying attention because the lights are now dimming. Ushers Winslow Jackson, Dave Ingersoll and Joe Barry are trying to restrain the over-anxious students of Waltham High School, Class of 1989, accompanied by their English teachers Lynda Cox and Kath Perperas and their history teachers Susan Perna and Mary Naughton. William Ducey, the newly-appointed ambassador to Germany, and his young Fraulein, Linda Ramburg, are sitting behind the romantic couple Robert Howard and Muriel Gagnon. Muriel, pert and pretty as ever, has just returned from the opening of her film, "The Endless Snows," in England. Al Buonomo, executive director of operations, has just contacted our cameraman, Robert Barber.

"The orchestra, directed by Bob Phillips, is playing that current hit "Won't You Go Home Bill Birchler" written by Joanne Testa.

"As the music fades out, the theatre becomes strangely quiet. The screen is lowered from the ceiling, and the seats tilt back as the viewers don their protective glasses and special earphones. The lights dim and on the screen comes the familiar roaring lion (actually ventriloquist Fran Archdeacon) and then the powerful voice of Doug McNamara: "Metro-Goldwyn-Manzon presents 'Gone with the Milkman' —the true life story of multimillionaire prospector Mike Fahey, a Stephen Flynn Production!

"Mike, played by four-time Oscar winner Danny O'Brien, is looking for oil in Waltham, Massachusetts, with his faithful Indian guide Norm Neu played by famous Broadway star Bill Welch. Mike and Norm come to the ruins of the old Waltham High School, filmed in breathtaking 3-D Supervision color by Michael Tomao under the masterful direction of Sue Boynton. As they walk through the ruins they find an old plaque telling of former headmasters Steve Burke, Elton Grant and Dennis Clark and the first woman principal Janice Pheeney. Among the ruins are Pat Pratt's old locker, still intact; a rusted trophy presented to WHS checker star Don Priest, and an old desk bearing the names of Bob Stering, Steve Moy and Charlene Malloy.

"Finally Fahey's chief miner, Bill Berry (played by Bob Fuller, a local boy in his first screen appearance) shouts 'Oil!' Mike is excited, since this is his first million. Now he can marry the boss' daughter, Rita Rayne, played by singing star Karen Aykanian. Karen sings two songs accompanied by Bill Nolan on the guitar and Robert Sumner on the drums. Norm is given a twenty percent share of the oil well, and the preacher, Ron Boisseau, and two witnesses, Irene Shlager and John Morreale are contacted. Everybody is happy until scientist Alan Ackerman, played by himself, reminds them that this is the 1980's, and since cars run on atomic power, oil is useless. However, Robert Gaudette gives Mike Fagan a souvenir shop at the site of the ruins, and of course, they were soon rich. Mike later gave all the money to Carol Anderson and Sue Davidson's orphanage and becomes America's best-loved multimillionaire prospector. The happy ending fades into a blazing orchestral finish.

"Well, ladies and gentlement, the lights are coming up at the close of a truly superb production. The applause is deafening and now—yes, I think it's Louis Bartleman who is leading the crowd in a sitting ovation. With his is syndicated columnist Sandra Lovequist, who gave up her reserved seat in the critic's box to allow room for special correspondents Tom Tierney, Bethel Walsh and Pauline Dupuis. Cliff Ruggles, Record-American critic, announced that he is giving the movie four stars.

"Upstairs, tears are rolling down the cheeks of matrons Elizabeth Toohil, Patricia Wrye, and Marie Rochon. They were deeply moved by the stirring performance of the novice actor, Edgar Bastarache, as the janitor. At the entrance to the foyer Christine Thambash and Cathy Sinclair are leading a picket line against the importing of out-of-state actors.

"Suddenly an authoritative voice captures everyone's attention. 'All right, nobody move!' What's this? It's John MacKenzie, the Chief of Waltham police with officers Mike Ditammaso and Steven Burke carrying death ray guns. 'Everyone in this theatre is under arrest. Officer Gallagher, confiscate that piece of corruptive film and arrest the theatre owner. You're all coming downtown for questioning.' Well, ladies and gentlemen, it seems that most of the WHS Class of 1967 will be reunited once more at the Waltham City Jail. Our cameras will pick up the action at the new location. See you there!"

1967 Class Will

We, the class of 1967, being of mini-mind and nod confusion, do hereby give, devise, and bequeath various and sundry items to our well-known teachers and friends as follows:

To Mr. George E. P. Husson, Jr., our new High School Principal, a walkie-talkie to help Mrs. Hughes, our WHS secretary, keep up with him.

And

To Mr. Lloyd F. Van Arsdale, our Vocational High School Director, a sundial, constructed by his boys, to measure for him and Mrs. Van the pleasant hours of his retirement.

For our Math Commander-in-chief, Mr. Lynch, we have ordered a tombstone for Old Supercar.

A remote-controlled filing cabinet, long desired, is our gift to Mrs. Dorin.

For Mr. Foley we designate in the plans for the new building and amphitheatre classroom with a marble teaching platform.

To our Boy's Gym instructors: this class subscribes to a fund-raising drive to liquidate TOWEL TOLLS.

Somehow we must devise for Mr. Bohlman a glossary of parenthetical expressions—somehow!

To Mrs. Stanton we leave a daily bulletin reader, one with a clarion voice.

An extension cord perpetually plugged in is our remembrance for Miss Stich.

For Mr. Eames' and Mrs. Moore's busy offices, by special arrangement with the Bell Telephone Company, we install an answering service—just for them.

And to our Miss Beaulne we assign mature sophomores who won't act "junior highish".

For the new location, now occupied by one Wiellette molecule and one McKnight molecule, the committee has designed to float over the top of their tower a pennant inscribed "The House of Chemistry".

To mail to Mrs. Peckham, our former authority in Vergil, Cicero, and Caesar, we have a Latin translation of "Mother Goose".

Provided for Miss Koledo's collection of decapitators is a stainless steel guillotine for her famous Tale of Two Cities demonstrations.

To Mr. Dollard and Mr. Healey go miners' caps to guide them through the darker confines of the bottom floor of the main building.

To Mr. Curry we present a new radio-active gum detector.

As an aid to Mr. Tyner we suggest a vacuum device capable of tearing students from the corridor to the correct seats.

A soundproof room for the teaching of shorthand is our surprise for Miss Mooney.

For future class notes, Mrs. Jurmain, we donate a Hungarian Translator.

To carry his red précis book, we present to Mr. Hood a fine green leather holster.

A perpetual supply of coffee for those heavenly coffee breaks is our bequest to the Girls' Gym offices.

It is our design to loan to our vice-principal, Mr. Edward D. May, Jr., one splendid new vest of many colors, including also a pocket watch of superior quality.

Upon Mrs. Keough, Mr. Morang's right hand, we bestow the title of "Mother of the 1967 Senior Class."

Mr. O'Brien, 100 shares of stock in the White Owl Invincible Cigar Co. is our tribute to you.

To Miss Roberts, we tender a copy of the story of "Rapunzel" as a reminder of her pupil's admiration for new long blond hair.

For Mrs. Steinberg we furnish a revised dictionary in ADEQUATE English.

For Mr. Goodwin we have set up an A.V. Robot to show Driver Ed. films.

We promise Mr. Vallely, in this year of wide-spread measles, that he shall have immunity from the embarrassment of catchng any childhood diseases.

His code number in French for ham radio-operator, Donald Thibault, shall henceforth be "Double O Sept."

To Mrs. Feldman we leave "more ears and fewer mouths" as characteristics of her '68 students.

As an adjustment to the third floor Language Lab, the committee recommends well-deserved penthouse offices for Mr. Merrill and Miss Betts.

We honor Mrs. Gertrude Johnson with a student-initiated degree to be lettered (capital) MA.

To Mr. French, alias Captain America, we bequeath a van to transport his elephant collection.

We award a miniature hawk for her desk to our early-bird faculty member and department head, Miss McCullough.

To Mr. Mrugala we contribute both the brains and the brawn of the Senior Class to erect his own ski lodge.

For Miss Hogarty, we shall organize the WHS Pet Club with herself as adviser and Greta, her German Shepherd, as mascot.

To accommodate his Family Fan Club more comfortably, we pass a gold ignition key to Mr. Prohovich for a DeLuxe V.W. Bus.

The Class of 1967 leaves its Housemaster, Mr. Morang, with all good wishes for his next class, which will be the first to graduate from the new Waltham High School, soon to rise on the beautiful wooded hillside overlooking Kennedy Memorial Junior High.

This, our last will and testament, is given at Waltham, Massachusetts, to date the highest average June temperature station, in 1967, the year of Snoopy and the Red Baron.

Witnessed and signed and sealed by the Johnson Trio, Mrs. Esther Johnson, Mrs. Gertrude Johnson, and Mrs. May Johnson, AND the WHS Hawk.

As the 1967 graduates voted Most Likely To Succeed, we call Mary Scheier, James Lambros, and John Brooks: to Mary, our seasoned traveler, reporter, and track manager, we present a strip of tickets to admit you to every imaginable success; to James, scientist and trackman, we award a figure symbolic of your race for ongoing success; and to John, our electronics expert, we provide an expanding antenna to help tune in on the pathway to success.

For Charles Trowbridge, the anchor man at the Vocational High who has done Most For His Class, we have a well-equipped tool box that you may continue to help others; For Kathy Arsenault, who's a treasure as well as our class treasurer, we have had constructed an armored car to protect our dough. As a reminder of his talent for doing things for the Class, we leave Bob Nardone this eager beaver.

We hereby decorate Pam Ross, our Homecoming Queen and Class Day Queen, with the Order of the Best Looking Girl. For Martin Dozois, our Best Looking Man, we have a supply of Ozone Hair spray, a famous brand, to keep every handsome lock in place.

To P. J. Lillis, alias Teddy Roosevelt, and WHS Personality Plus, we leave a golden bugle so he may continue to blow his own horn. For her smiling Personality Plus, we add, for Karen O'Toole, a giant tube of Plus White toothpaste.

Superlatives

To honor Janet Beran, David LaHiase and Ronald Crane, our Most Respected Classmates, our Class President, Robert Nardone, will present their Medals of Honor.

To Judi Ansara, the Most Talented Girl, we give, in recognition of her many hours as choreographer, Two Left Feet for her next production on stage. And for Robert Gulotti—in appreciation of his most versatile talent, we have procured a W.H.S. version of a Drumstick.

To Joe Cacciatore, the strong right arm of our athletic teams, the Class of 1967 presents a muscle-rippling strong right arm. For Peggy Bassing, our outstanding girl athlete, we have designed a wardrobe of gym suits for all occasions. And for that football co-captain, John McFarland, voted by his buddies as Most Athletic, we have just made a dent in the Boston Patriots line-up by getting John a contract for next Fall.

Finally, the Class of 1967 voted Debbie McCullough the Class Flirt among the girls. For Debbie we have designed a pair of sunglasses as a guarantee for a wrinkle-free wink. And for J. Paul Montgomery, the successful campaigner for the title of Class Flirt, we have recruited a bevy of beautiful belles to supplement your many conquests of your senior year.

"Climb Ever

"But fear and previous futile action should not prevent us from heeding such exaggerated warnings that our traditional values need to be revaluated, adapted to a faster pace, more inquisitive society and a truth-seeking younger generation . . . We are capable and responsible and unafraid in our enthusiasm."

Karen Aykanian

"Let us think of ourselves as individuals and remember that each one of us is an alive and feeling human being, not a cold metal offshoot of a computer . . . Warning: Contents alive. Do not bend, staple or fold!"

Nancy Rando

Mountain"

"This incredible pace of change which is upon us will produce newer techniques and tools faster than we can imagine. To keep pace we must be ready to adopt entirely new patterns of thought. We cannot cling to our outdated beliefs and methods. For, if we are complacent or preoccupied with past experience, we will be lost in our changing world."
Amy Chittenden

"Today's world is exciting, full of challenges. There is room for each man with his unique blend of dislikes, aspirations and hopes . . . a man must have ambition, fervor, love, and, rising to every challenge, will guide the world to a peaceful, hopeful tomorrow."

CANON

One straining sound
Of slight inflection
That belies its own potential,
A singular cautious phrase
Of immature melody
That rings anticipation
Like a child's first word,
Or the first ripple of a pebble, frozen,
Caught before its promise
Washes away.

Like a tiered fountain,
Rising from a silent,
Tranquil pool
Toward a sputtering, volcanic upheaval
Of harmony and sweet discord,
Of pealing bells of sun-flecked droplets,
Splashing, reaching.
And my mind stood apart
To watch my own sound in the echo
And was awed
By my indispensable smallness.
Releasing my ambition,
My personal cadence,
I strained for the high note.

Poets

SMOKE

A curl of gray-light smoke
Winds, floats and rises up
Travelling through the chimney
That bears the soot marks
Of their constant contact.

And when this dark traveller
Reaches the blueness of the open sky,
He laughs because he is free
To choose his direction
Being no longer confined by red brick walls.

He finds it easiest at first
To continue in the shape
He acquired going up the long chimney.
But winds blow now and again,
And he drifts in all directions.

Now black billows block the sky;
A powder yellow streak of sunlight
Reveals our drifter,
Caught up in the rage of a forest fire,
And guides his way out.

The curl rises again,
An open spiral isolated against the vastness of the sky.
Still twisting in joy,
But more cautious from experience,
He will surely reach and mingle with the highest clouds.

Reflector

Since the demands for a school newspaper were answered by the first edition of the Reflector in 1966, every subsequent edition has improved in quality and risen in esteem of the teachers and pupils alike as a voice of student opinion.

The monthly editors have tried to print any article, editorial or creative work submitted by any student. Mr. McKnight, Mr. Wiellette, and Miss Gerokoulis, our indispensable and liberal advisors, were usually silent and let the staff plow headlong through most policy decisions and all the problems.

The Reflectors of 1967 have not been amateur publications. This year's staff is proud of the milestones passed since last faltering steps—and leave to the future classes the legacy of responsibility to continue the new tradition of the Reflector.

ART CLUB

W.H.S.'s creative geniuses are organized in our Art Club. Their experiments in various media have produced anything and everything from oil painting and sculpture to fashion design and graphic arts. This past year the club has been responsible for many dance decorations, posters, and holiday decorations. With Mr. Squoros as their faculty advisor, they have gotten a great deal of enjoyment from the club.

Art Club

A. F. S.

Mary Schier: India

Should you ever have any questions about India, just ask Mary. Although she doesn't claim to be an expert on the subject, the fact that she spent last summer living in India, and taking a course in Indian philosophy certainly lends a lot of weight to anything she might have to say. This honors student is probably one of our best A.F.S.'ers, and Waltham High can truly be proud of her.

Hanitra Andreamanitana: Malagasy

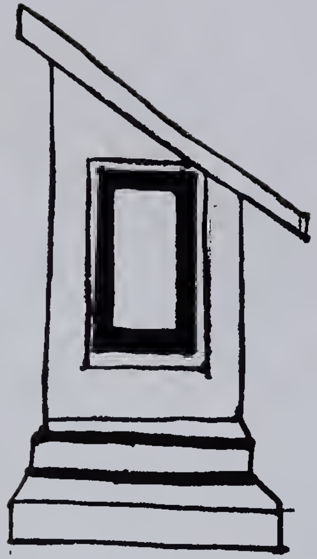
From the time she was introduced to the Student Body on the first day of school, Hanitra, our visitor from the Republic of Malagasy has managed to win the heart of everyone of us at WHS. Her natural wit and charming personality have enabled us to see how much alike people really are all over the world, whether they live in Malagasy or Massachusetts. We all wish to thank Hanitra for coming to us.

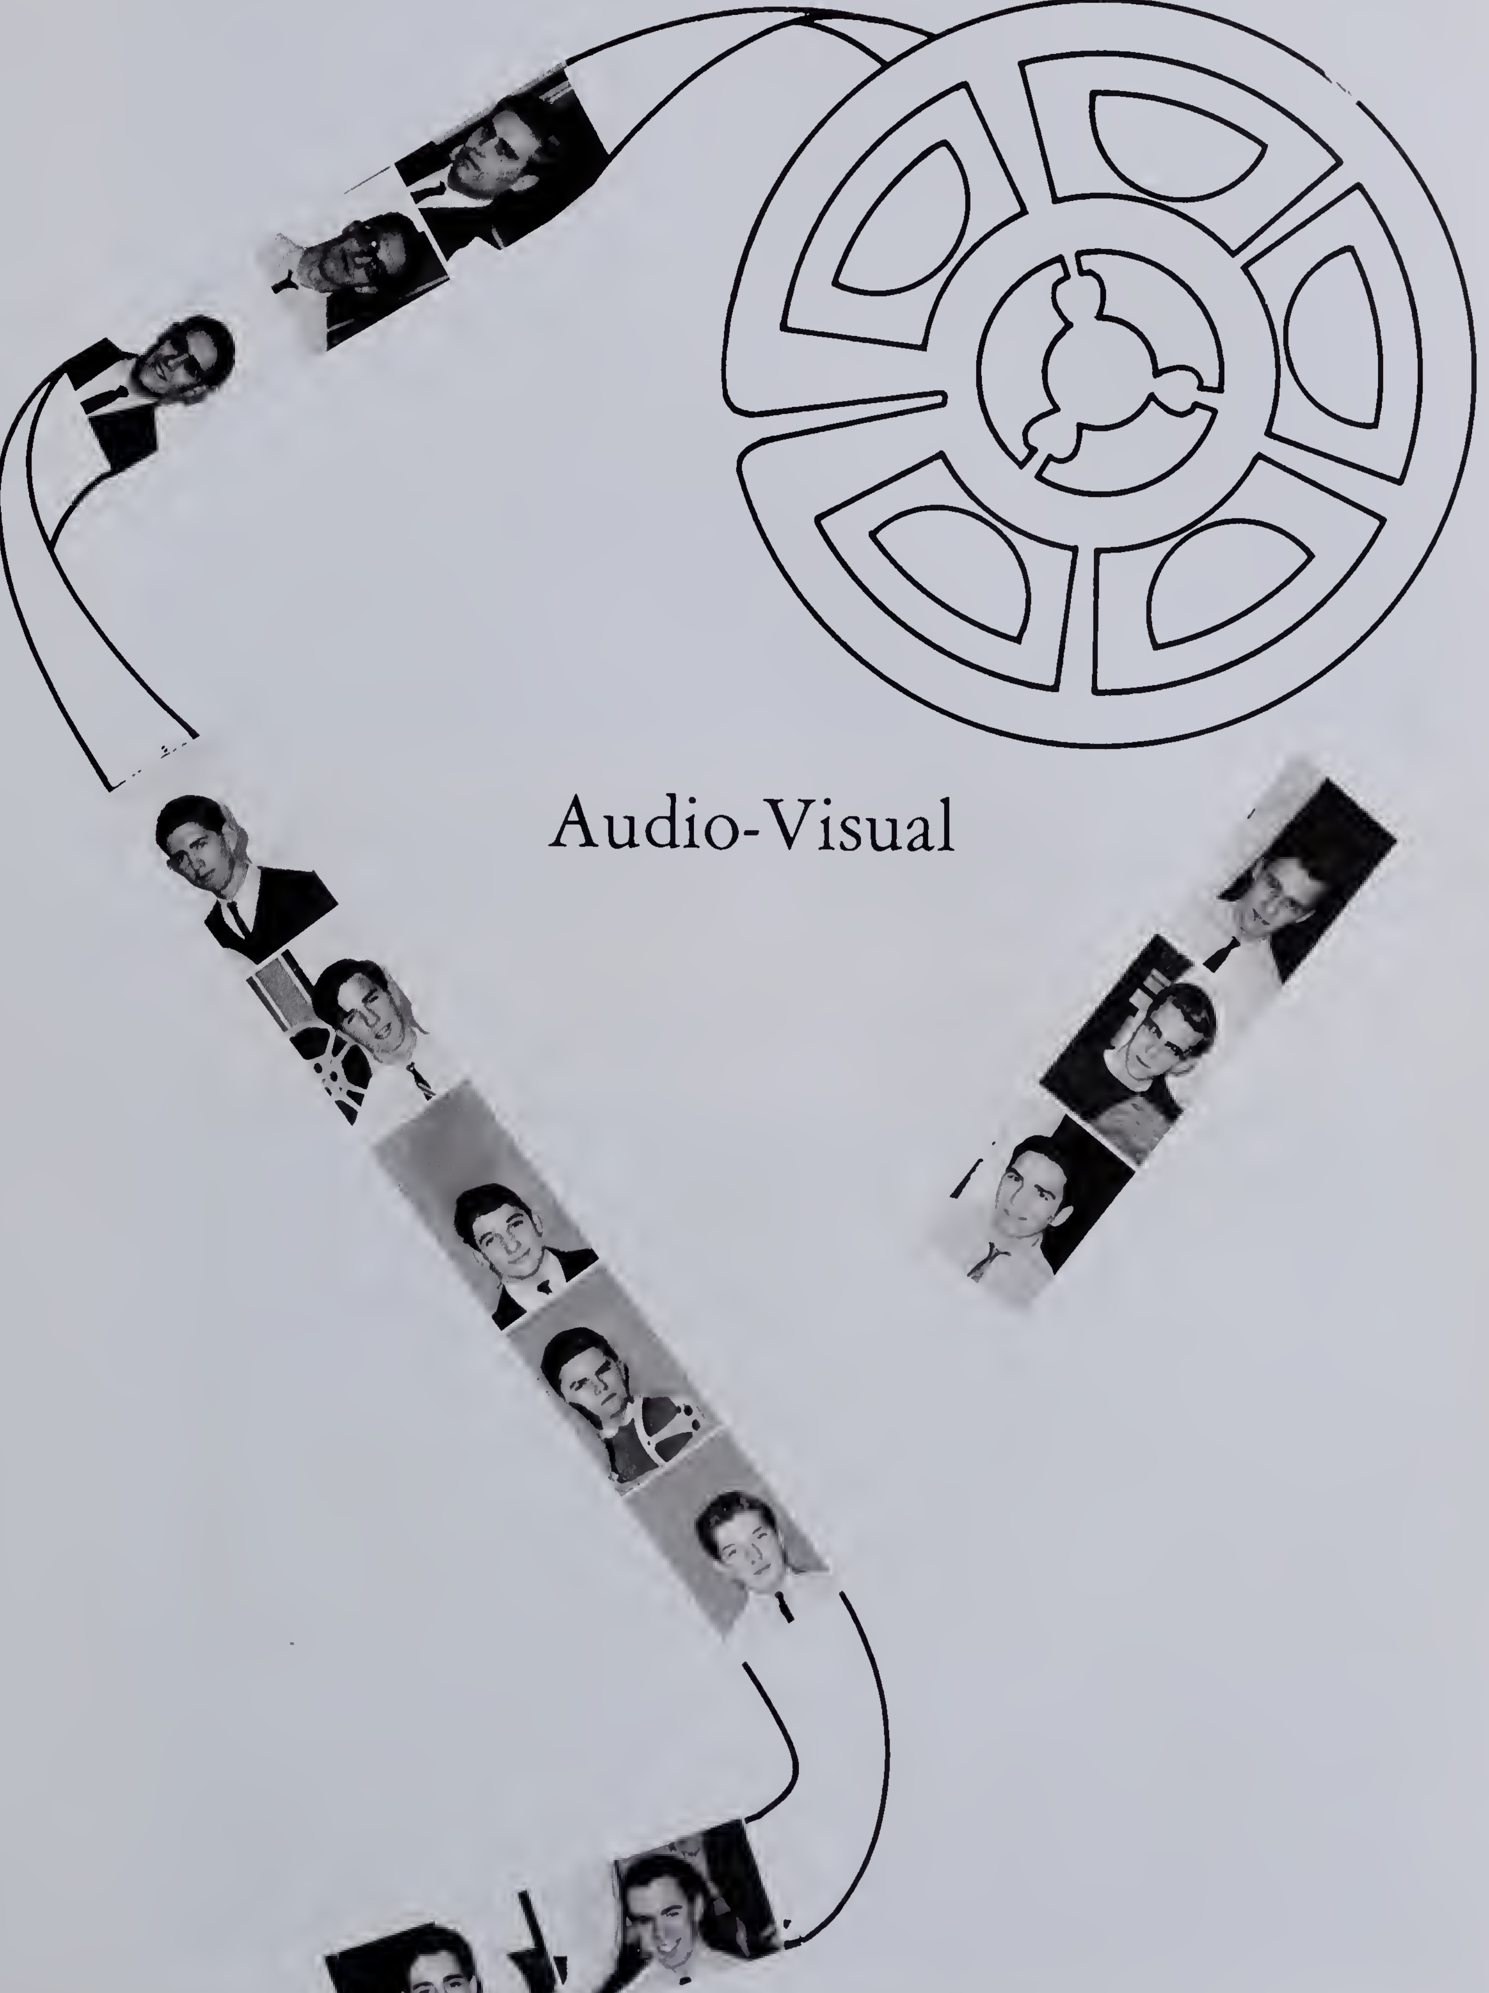
Debating Club



Resolved: The federal government should limit aid to nonmilitary assistance.

This is the topic of discussion with which the debating club is concerned this year. Each Tuesday, the members compete in debate in the North Shore League.

Audio-Visual



Ski Club

Three hundred members? Would you believe one hundred and fifty? Well, how about this representative group? The Ski Club, unquestionably the most popular club in the school, includes members ranging in ability from Olympic ski material to beginning snow bunnies.

Math Team

Our best wishes go with the Math Team, that fairly unknown group of math students at W.H.S. who compete at four league meets per year, with the support of Mr. Sheehan.

Future Nurses of America

The F.N.A. gives students a chance to get a look at real nursing. Girls who want to be nurses can see what the nursing profession is really like. The past year they have made many trips to hospitals, and have had movies and discussions about the nursing career. Mrs. Flynn, a registered nurse, is the club advisor. The club is fun, with a little bit of experience thrown in.

The Library Council

WORK RO
PLEASE

Great thanks to the students of the Library Council and Mrs. Flynn for keeping our research department in great order. They are responsible for the great efficiency of our school library.

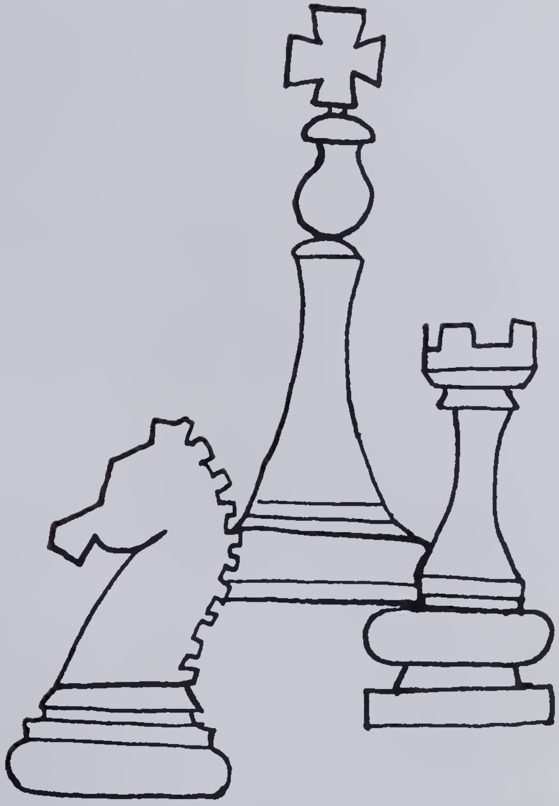
Keep up the good work!

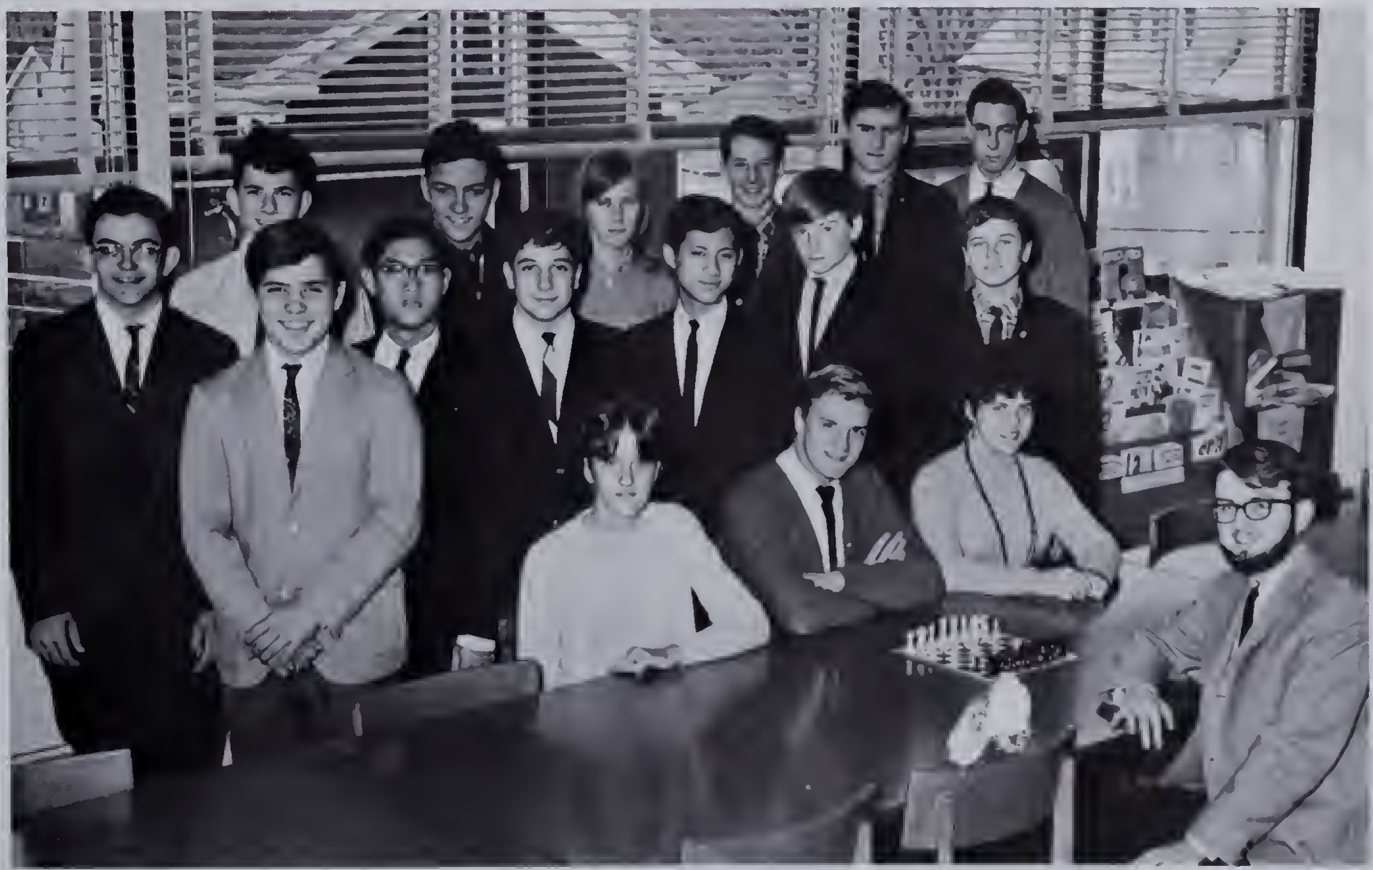
This Week at Waltham High

This Week At
Waltham High

This Week at Waltham High, is the title of the column which appears in the Waltham News Tribune and keeps the public informed of the events of interest concerning the school. In addition to this, the column keeps in touch with former W.H.S. students, interviews prominent students, and reports on club and class activities.

Chess Club





The Chess Club under the advisorship of Mr. Levesque, has a twofold purpose this year. It has been organized to allow new members to learn the basics of the game, and the more experienced members to participate in a league with other neighboring schools.

Russian Club

Russian, a fairly new language addition to our curriculum, is fast becoming very popular with the students. With Mr. Corcoran as its advisor, the club is mostly interested in Russian conversations and customs. Their singing of "Silent Night" in Russian at our international Christmas party sounded very different from the other language clubs' versions of the song.

Student Council

Student Activity Tickets are a new innovation this year, and their success will probably bring them back again, say the officers of the Student Council: Katherine MacHugh, treasurer; Katherine Arsenault, secretary; Carolyn Brophy, girls' vice-president; Arthur McGovern, boys' vice president; Robert McGovern, president. Mr. Wiellette is their faculty advisor.

F. O. R. U. N.

FORUN is the International Relations Club at W.H.S., whose main purpose is to unite students interested in contemporary foreign affairs. Its members participate in model U.N. forums at neighboring colleges and sponsor guest speakers, with the assistence of Mr. Richman.

German Club

Under the supervision of Miss Booth, this organization has been extremely successful. Its members have all had contact with the German language and display an avid interest in the culture of Germany. This year began with an initiation party and throughout the year the club has enthusiastically added a German touch to several affairs.

French Club

The French Club at W.H.S. consists of those students who are studying or have studied French and who are interested in French conversation and culture. One of the club's excursions included a trip to a movie, a French comedy spoken entirely in French, and a visit to a cafe afterwards. French foods and French records enlighten their frequent meetings.

Spanish Club

"El club de Español es muy bien", says a member of the Spanish Club. Led by Mrs. Mebel their faculty advisor, and their president, Lyle Shelly, the club's activities have all been successes. The club was organized to learn about and enjoy the language and culture of all Spanish speaking countries, and they have enjoyed doing it this past year.

Latin Club

If you ever need anything in a hurry, just holler, "Latini Amici". These Compus Maximus road-runners won the Junior Scholastic League Olympic Chariot Race not once, but twice in the same day! They also demolished the Spanish Club's Pinata at the International Christmas Party. So, even though the language may be ancient, don't try to pass the Latini Amici by. Veni, Vidi, Vici, still hold true today.

Italian Club

Whether you speak Italian well or you're just learning, you can't afford to pass up membership in this fine club. So, whenever you want to throw a coin in a fountain, with just a little extra finesse, come to the Italian Club and learn how.

CLASS OF '67—GO FORWARD

On this Graduation Day,
Stop and reminisce;
About the years you spent in school,
The friends that you will miss.

The teachers who have helped you;
The fun that school can be;
You always will remember,
In your book of memory.

The past in now behind you,
Your future you must face.
Class of '67—
Go forward, in His Grace.

The world that we bequeath you,
Is a challenging one, it's true;
But with hope and faith, wihtin our hearts,
We offer it to you.

The Peace that we all yearn for,
May be within your sight.
Class of '67—
Go forward, in His Light.

"PRECISION HAS BEEN OUR BUSINESS SINCE 1850"

Before you accept that first job . . .

Look over your employer as carefully as he does you

What's the Company like anyway? Would I be proud to work there? Reputation for square dealing with employees? Pleasant surroundings?

Will I be working with others my own age? Are they friendly? Do they socialize after hours?

Will the boss be reasonable? Appreciate good, hard work, but won't explode if I make a mistake?

Will I make a decent week's pay? Have a chance for raises, advancement, more responsibility? How about fringe benefits?

Is the work challenging? I had what it takes to get through high school. Will they give me a chance to use my brains?

> Note: Many young men and women in this area can answer "Yes" to these questions. They work for New England Telephone.
> Why not talk with our employment interviewer soon . . . before you graduate? Ask your Guidance Counselor to tell you when and where to apply.

In 1971 you may find opportunity just around the corner

If you plan to attend college, Raytheon Company has a variety of exciting challenges waiting for you in 1971 . . . right in your own backyard.

We already know, for example, that four years from now we'll require college graduates with degrees in applied mathematics, physics, engineering, business and marketing. Career positions will be available at many of our 17 New England locations in the fields of data processing, communications, componen appliances, education and administration.

If your interests lie in these areas, we'd like invite you to plan a post-graduate career with — close to the cultural, educational and recreatior advantages that only New England can offer.

In the meantime, our congratulations for a step the right direction.
